

Same great quality – Different colour

November 2018

Dear TOG customer:

We are in the process of standardizing the colour of the thermoplastic shells used on TOG orthotics.

Currently, we offer black, white and blue thermoplastic shells used in the making of our orthotics. Going forward, we will only be using Blue shells, in keeping with our brand colours. The move to the blue shells will be a gradual process.

Aside from meeting our branding requirements, this move also allows us the opportunity to reduce our overall environmental foot print. In the production of the thermoplastic shells, the transition from one colour to the next leads to large amounts of plastic waste. Using a single colour lets us divert large quantities of otherwise discarded plastic away from the waste stream.

This is a colour change only. The material of the shells do not change and will remain to be the best in the industry. We will continue to offer a life time warranty on all our shells.

We truly value your partnership and looking forward to many years of great mutual success.

If there are any questions or concerns, please do contact us.
